

THIS WEEK'S MESSAGE

JUNE 11TH - 12TH, 2022 // BOOK OF 1 CORINTHIANS

GENEROSITY (1 CORINTHIANS 16:1-4)

Paul spent time within his letter of correction answering some questions submitted by the church at Corinth.

- As he closes the letter, Paul will answer a question regarding the collection he was taking for the poor in Jerusalem (vs. 1-4), he'll inform the church of his travel plans (vs. 5-11), and then he'll speak of some of his associates' plans in ministry (vs. 12-18).

The financial collection Paul was referring to was for the saints in Jerusalem, and it was part of an effort among many different churches to help the poor in that region (Acts 11:27-30, 24:17; Rom. 5:26).

- Generosity and benevolence have always been hallmarks of the Christian faith—the Red Cross, the Salvation Army, World Vision, Samaritan's Purse—are all organizations founded out of Christian convictions.

CHRISTIANITY TEACHES THAT...

Everything we have been given has been given to us by God (1 Chron. 29:12)—we don't really own anything.

- We've been given resources—money, opportunities, relationships, etc.—to steward, or manage for God's glory (1 Tim. 6:7-8).
- Out of all 36 of Jesus' parables, 17 are about stewardship.

As managers (or stewards) of God's money, we're to make every effort to use it for His glory and for the good of others.

- This is why as Christians, we're to give faithfully to the work of God in the world—the ministry of the local church, missions, and to help those who are in need.
- Giving stretches our faith, keeps our hearts soft, and protects us from the love of money (1 Tim. 6:10).

- Giving is a part of our worship. "On the first day of the week," the church at Corinth was instructed to give as they gathered for worship. We attribute worth to God by giving back to Him a portion of what He's blessed us with.
- Giving should be a consistent and standard part of our budget and lifestyle. "Each of you is to put something aside and store it up"—it shouldn't be that we give God leftovers.
- Giving is to be proportionate and personal. "As he may prosper," suggests that believers who are blessed with more should be willing to give more. Tithing (10%) is a good place to start, but as the Lord gives us more, we should be willing to be even more generous.
- Giving should be entrusted to those who will handle finances honestly and responsibly. Verses 3-4 speak of appointed delegates that could handle money honestly and responsibly along with Paul.

The only way it makes any sense to trust God with our hard-earned money, to share what God has given us with those around us, and to invest our resources in the work of the Lord, is if we believe the gospel!

- Do you trust God? Do you trust Him with your money (Matthew 6:24)?
- Are you managing the resources He's given you in a way that honors Him?

TRAVEL PLANS (1 CORINTHIANS 16:5-11)

Paul was in Ephesus when he wrote this letter.

- His plan was to pass through Macedonia for a time of ministry (vs. 5), spend the winter in Corinth (vs. 6), and then go to Judea with the collection for the poor in Jerusalem.
- Travel on the Mediterranean was dangerous, and it was impossible to travel from November to February.
- Paul ended up having to revise his plans at least twice (2 Cor. 1:15-16, 2:12-12, 7:5).

"IF THE LORD PERMITS" (VS. 7)

Paul made his plans, but he understood that God could change his circumstances at any time.

- And while he waited in Ephesus for the right time to visit Corinth (vs. 8), he recognized the, "wide door for effective work" that God had given him right where he was (vs. 9).
  - Every opportunity and season in life is a divine assignment that we're called to steward.
- We use common sense, wisdom, prayer, godly counsel, and Scripture to determine what God's will is for us in the opportunities we're given.
    - In every decision and choice we make in our lives, we're to seek God's will and direction.
    - God gave us minds and wants us to use them, but He doesn't want us to depend solely on our own understanding (Prov. 3:5-6). What motivates the decisions we make?
  - We make our plans as they "seem right to us and the Holy Spirit" (Acts 15:28), and we adjust as God may lead us to adjust.
    - We can fall victim to the "paralysis of analysis" and be so afraid of doing the wrong thing that we do nothing—which isn't pleasing to the Lord.
    - Sometimes we've analyzed enough, and we just need to act! God is faithful to adjust our plans if our hearts are humble, listening, and obedient.
  - We don't waste time in our seasons of waiting—we steward the opportunities God gives us to serve Him and minister to others.
    - Paul did some of his most impactful ministry while he was in prison.
    - We can always come up with excuses for why we can't serve the Lord in the place we are.
    - We don't have tomorrow promised—so what opportunities is God giving us today?

The Corinthian church didn't respect or honor Paul as a spiritual authority, but Paul asks them to respect his spiritual son Timothy when he comes to Corinth (vs. 10-11).

- Timothy might have suffered from a lack of confidence and a lack of respect, which is why Paul commanded Timothy not to let anyone despise him (1 Tim. 4:12), and the Corinthians not to despise him either (vs. 11).

FELLOW WORKERS & LABORERS (1 CORINTHIANS 16:12-24)

Apollos was an eloquent minister who brought the gospel to Priscilla & Aquila (Acts 18:24-28).

- Even though there were those in Corinth who seemed to prefer Apollos over Paul (1 Cor. 1:12), Paul didn't hesitate to encourage Apollos to visit Corinth (vs. 12).
- Paul didn't have a competitive or jealous bone in his body! He was just happy God was using others to minister and preach the gospel.

"BE WATCHFUL..."

Jesus commanded us to be watchful as we await His return (Matt. 24:42; Mark 13:37).

- We're also told to, "watch and pray, so we don't enter into temptation" (Matt. 26:41).
- "Stand firm in the faith..."
- We're to have mature stability in our faith and in a lifestyle of discipleship—not allowing culture, trials, or challenges to knock us off our foundation.

"Act like men, be strong..."

- This is a call to courageous maturity in our faith, instead of to immature cowardice.
- We can very much act like children in the church when we bicker, argue, or act self-centered.
- We're to be strong in the Lord (Eph. 6:10).
- "Let all you do be done in love" (vs. 14).
- Without love, all of the "bravery" and "strength" mean nothing (1 Cor. 13).

Stephanas, Fortunatus, and Achaicus were probably leaders in the church at Corinth who brought the questions of the Corinthian Christians to Paul.

- As Paul sends them back with this letter, he asks that they be received as servants of the Lord (vs. 15, 18).
- He wants the Corinthian church to recognize them and be "subject" to those in the church like them who are "fellow workers and laborers" (vs. 16).

"FOR THEY REFRESHED MY SPIRIT AS WELL AS YOURS..."

When these three men came to Ephesus to see Paul, it was a life-giving and restorative time they had together.

- You and I need Christian friends who can encourage, strengthen, refresh, and uphold us.
- To make a Christian friend like this, we must first learn how to be a friend like this.
- In your friendships, are you a life-giver or a life-sucker? How are you stewarding your relationships?

In verses 19-20, Paul sends greetings from the churches in the Roman province of Asia (modern-day Turkey and Greece).

- Finally, Paul adds his own greeting and signature to the letter as he closes (vs. 21).
- The importance of love is stressed as Paul closes this letter—if anyone doesn't truly love the Lord, they're to be accursed, "anathema" (vs. 22).

There are a lot of people participating in organized Christian religion that don't have any true love in their hearts for the Lord or for people.

- They may talk of their commitment to the church or to Christian ideals, but the truth is, they're in it for other reasons. "Our Lord come!"—Paul longs to see Jesus at His return, and his love for the Lord is reflected also by his love for the church (vs. 23-24).

LETTING ALL WE DO BE DONE IN LOVE (VS. 14)

- Wholehearted, exclusive, obedient, and committed love of God is the key to just about everything in the Christian life (Matt. 22:37).
- Love is always the basis for obedience—if we love Him, we will be committed to obeying Him.
- Love for God will always cause us to love other people.
- When we're in love, we're willing to sacrifice.
- It's possible to be "right" and yet fail to truly love God and love people.
- It's possible to genuinely believe that we're doing God's work, believing God's Word, and accomplishing God's will, and yet genuinely miss God's heart.
- It's possible to believe in the concept of Jesus intellectually, but not truly surrender our hearts and lives to Him.
- As Christians, it's not guilt, compulsion, or manipulation that controls our money—it's our love for God and for people that guides how we manage our finances (vs. 1-4).
- Are you honoring God with your finances?
- Are you acknowledging Him as your provider, or is money your practical god?
- Why aren't you generous?
- As Christians, every relationship and friendship we have is to be guided by our love for that person as we seek for others to be "refreshed" by our interactions with them every day (vs. 15-18).
- Do you notice the people God puts in your path?
- Are you looking for ways to pray for, serve, and encourage others? Or do you just look for them to do that for you?

HOW CAN I LOVE GOD MORE?

- 1 John 4:19
The secret to growing in love for God and in love for others is to grow in our understanding of God's love for us.
- Look to the cross—do you know how much you're loved?
